

We welcome parents to our cannabis information sessions at Mini Maria

Are you a parent worrying in case your child starts smoking cannabis, or has already tried it? If so, you will be welcome at Mini Maria's cannabis information sessions. They are free and we meet other parents in small groups.

Things we will be talking about include:

- The physical, mental and social effects of cannabis and spice
- How you as a parent can talk to your child about the effects of cannabis
- Making an objective response to common arguments
- Dealing with everyday situations

Mini Maria sees in its work that parents want more knowledge about cannabis.

Teaching parents about cannabis can give you the knowledge you need in order to refute arguments commonly put forward by youngsters. We also want to give you tools that are useful and effective in everyday situations.

The meetings will be for groups of about 8-10 parents. What emerges at the meetings must be kept confidential. The training is free.
